Gairer Carnival Guild "Dachtei" - Reith im Alpbachtal

11:11 | A premiere will take place in St Gertraudi at 11.11 a.m. sharp: the first capture of a "Dachtei". The carnival call "Dachtei - Dachtei" stands for the jackdaws, that have inhabited the Kropfsberg ruins for centuries. The guild took up this tradition by symbolically capturing this member of the crow family to ring in the fifth season. The black bird is symbolically imprisoned for the duration of the carnival and regains its freedom once carnival ends. The ceremony is by no means a a spontaneous affair, but is conducted by a master of ceremonies with precise rules and texts. A procession moves through the village with the caged "Dachtei", led by an ensign with the only carnival flag in Tyrol. The procession is made up of a gunner who aims at more than just sparrows, the sexton with a large bell, the sky bearers who accompany the carnival prince with his safety net, and a person dressed as the "Dachtei".
